

POTENTIAL CANADA POST SERVICE DISRUPTION

Stay on top of your finances and bill payments if there is a Canada Post Strike!

In the event of a Canada Post Service Disruption, you may not receive your banking documents, bank statements or be able to mail payments or documents to us. We'd like to remind customers that you're still responsible for keeping your accounts in good standing.

For your convenience, Peace Hills Trust has many options to ensure you are able to obtain your important banking information or send payments to us during a postal service disruption:

- ✓ e-Statements (Personal Accounts) – view your electronic bank statements conveniently through Online Banking. Enrollment for this service is free; contact your servicing Regional Office to sign-up!
- ✓ e-Statements (Business Accounts) – view your bank statements conveniently through Online Business Banking. Contact your Regional office to set-up this service!
- ✓ Bills that are normally paid through the mail can be paid using online, mobile or telephone banking, at an ABM or at your Regional Office.
- ✓ Set up pre-authorized debits for regular payments so that the amount will be automatically debited from your bank account when it is due.
- ✓ If you receive cheques or regular payments from other organizations or government agencies, find out how you can receive these payments in other ways. If possible, sign up for direct deposit so the payments are automatically deposited into your bank account.
- ✓ Banking documents can be received at your Regional Office either by courier or facsimile.

Information and updates about a possible Canada Post strike can be found on its website at www.canadapost.ca.

If you have questions, please contact your servicing Regional Office.

* ABM's are not available at all Peace Hills Trust Regional Office locations.
